

Calgary Transit On Demand Pilot Project

Coming to Livingston in Spring 2019

"In our city, we have people leveraging the service that we offer. We just need to make sure we are keeping up with the times and offering the service in a way that meets need and is most economical."

- Jyoti Gondek, Ward 3 Coun.

Livingston is a new community with great transit ridership and we know people are using the North Pointe transit station as part of their commute.

Calgary Transit On Demand involves passengers in newer communities, like Livingston, using an app when they want to book a trip. The transit software will then create a route using the various passenger requests and tell them where and when they will be picked up. The route for Livingston will then link the passengers to the North Pointe transit station.
